

The Brehm Boucher Speaker Series presents
Ralph Begleiter - Adventures of a Global Journalist

Former CNN World Affairs Correspondent Ralph Begleiter, who has worked in 100 countries on all seven continents, goes behind-the-scenes covering international affairs during the final decades of the Cold War. It was a time when CNN was the only global all-news television network, pioneering international broadcast journalism, breaking boundaries and building a worldwide audience. We'll stop on several continents, meet some world leaders of the time, and see how journalists and their "sources" interact to bring you the news. We'll also touch on how international politics - and warfare - could affect the U.S. election year.